This year we celebrate the FIFTIETH Hampshire County Bird Count!

Started by the director and staff of the Burgundy Center for Wildlife Studies (BCWS), this count has been carried out continually by that group ever since, with the valuable support of the Adams family who have donated the use of their lodge. Most of the participants are current and former BCWS staff, and we take pride in the many beginners whom we have inspired into a lifetime of birding and conservation work. We always welcome any birder/spotter willing to tromp through the weather with binoculars.
